

Ropeflex training machines are based on simple, time-proven principles of rope climbing while reducing the risk of this traditionally dangerous activity to nearly zero. Individuals of any age and athletic ability can benefit from our unique rope technology safely and comfortably.

The compact and versatile DRAGON combines multiple machines in 1 for unparalleled workout variety. Take advantage of both horizontal and vertical configurations for a complete, functional, total-body workout. Get the most out of this multi-functional station by simultaneously engaging up to 4 users. Both drums can be adjusted independently (up and down) at 9 different positions for optimal gains that transfer to almost any sport or activity. Our unique design eliminates all moving parts and assures consistent and reliable performance.
